This fan-fiction article, Strigoi, was written by Witcher190 and Adalwulf of Aedirn. Please do not edit this fiction without the writers' permission.

Strigoi is a race of vampires which appears in the Northern Kingdoms and the Far East sometime after the Conjunction of the Spheres which happened in around 230s BR. With a few specimens, present both in the Eastern Continent and the Western Continent.

They're distant relatives of the Nosferat and within the ranking of lesser vampires are those who possess higher intelligence, very similar to human.

Strigoi
Taxonomy
Classification	Lesser Vampire
Species	Vampire
Subspecies	Highgate
Physiology
Eyes	Red
Ecology
Lifespan	1000 years
Intelligence	Similar to human level
Nature	They tend to hide among humans, are solitary, infiltrating the homes of their prey and killing them there.

Physiology

In appearance, they are very similar to the Nosferat, so much so that, some scholars, such as the witcher known as Warritt, did not consider them as a distinct species in his studies while others, such as Elcon of Roseberg, do.

In most cases, with very rare exceptions, they have red hair and red eyes in their human form. Those who do not possess these traits, it is because they possess some Nosferat ancestor, since both species of vampires can procreate. In their human form, except for their hair and eye colour, they tend to have very pale skin, much paler than the Nosferat, resembling albinos to some extent.

This has led, in many communities in the Far East, to albinism or red-headedness being considered a curse and such people being persecuted.

In their vampiric form, they are somewhere between the vampiric aspect of a Higher Vampire and a Nosferat. Possessing neither the soft skins of the second, nor the hairy appearance of the first, but somewhere in between.
